

12. Saseth Printing Press

The Saseth Printing Press is another successful business venture established by the Society. The printing press, formerly known as Nacosil Printing Press, located in Grandpass, Colombo, and previously owned by the Sri Lanka National Co-operative Council, was acquired by the Society.

Following its acquisition, the printing press was restructured and modernized under the name "Saseth Printing Press", enabling it to undertake a comprehensive range of printing services.

Today, the Printing Division is committed to providing customers with efficient, reliable, and high-quality printing solutions. The Society also intends to further modernize the press with advanced printing technology and facilities, strengthening its position and competitiveness in the printing industry.

Printing Services

The Saseth Printing Press is responsible for printing:

1. All official documents and publications of the Society.
